November 30, 2020

Dear Parents, Guardians, Teachers and Support Staff,

Please be advised that the Bloomington School District will be implementing a 100% remote instructional school day beginning Monday, November 30, 2020. This is a result of staffing issues and the current transmission rate of the COVID 19 Virus as reported by the New Jersey Department of Health. The Principal of your school will be sending you information pertaining to the return to a virtual instructional day.

The 100% remote instructional program will be evaluated on or about January 4, 2021 to determine a date to return to the hybrid in person instructional schedule. Thank you for your cooperation, patience and understanding during these difficult and challenging times.

The district administrative team, wish you and your families a Happy and Healthy Thanksgiving.

John J. Petrelli
Interim Superintendent of Bloomington Schools
